CHAIRMEN

Abe and Irene Pollin

Entering their 42nd season of ownership, Abe and Irene Pollin hold the distinction of being the longest tenured owners in the National Basketball Association. Since becoming owners in 1964, the Pollins have watched the NBA become the standard by which all other professional sports leagues are measured, exploding in growth from a small, regional league to a worldwide presence on the business landscape.

In their distinguished career, Abe and Irene Pollin have been at the center of every major issue in the NBA during their time at the helm of the Washington Bullets/Wizards. In 1978, they reached the pinnacle of the NBA as their Bullets, behind the play of Wes Unseld, Elvin Hayes and Bob Dandridge, defeated Seattle Supersonics and brought a World Championship to Washington.

As the majority owners of Washington Sports & Entertainment Limited Partnership, Abe and Irene Pollin oversee the operations of the Washington Wizards and the Washington/Baltimore TicketMaster, in-house promoter Musicentre Productions, and the management of MCI Center and the George Mason University Patriot Center.

Thirty-two years ago, the Pollins opened the Capital Centre in Landover, Maryland, the new home for their Baltimore Bullets, and applied for a National Hockey League expansion franchise. The Capital Centre opened on December 2, 1973, and it was what MCI Center is today — a state-of-the-art sports and entertainment facility that became the standard for new arenas throughout the world.

The Capital Centre, aptly named by Irene Pollin, was built in a record 15 months and boasted a host of unique features including electronic ticketing, one-of-a-kind luxury suite accommodations and the never-seen-before Telescreen. It was the premier arena in its time, hosting a wide range of events from sporting events to concerts and even presidential galas.

But as time and the sports and entertainment industry changed, the Pollins realized that their teams were no longer playing in the "best" facility in their respective leagues. In 1964, when the Pollins and two partners purchased the Baltimore Bullets, they had dreams that someday the team would play in a brand-new facility in the Nation's Capital. Now they had another opportunity to make their dreams reality.

> "The dramatic revitalization of Downtown Washington, DC began with the great vision and generosity of Abe and Irene Pollin."
> — Mayor Anthony A. Williams,
> Mayor of District of Columbia

After the long years of planning and then building MCI Center, the Pollins watched as their dreams came true on December 2, 1997, when a sellout crowd filled MCI Center to watch the Wizards host the arena's first event versus the Seattle Supersonics. Since that time, over 18.7 million people have spun the turnstiles at MCI Center to be a part of over 1,576 concerts and sporting events, and the downtown area has sprung to life.

"I had two goals when I decided to build this building," said Abe Pollin. "The first was that if I was building in downtown Washington, the nation's capital, it had to be the best building of its kind in the country. The second was to be the catalyst that turned the city around."

As the Wizards completed their first season at MCI Center, the Pollin's WNBA franchise, the Washington Mystics, was making history of its own. The Mystics made their MCI Center debut on June 19, 1998, against the Utah Starzz in front of 20,674 fans — the largest crowd ever to attend a women's professional basketball game in the United States. And while the Mystics' beginnings under the Pollin's guidance were historic in their own right, their purchase by Sheila Johnson and Lincoln Holdings was of similar significance. In May of 2005, the Pollins facilitated the sale of their Mystics to Sheila Johnson as the Mystics President and Managing Partner, and brought Johnson to Lincoln Holdings, a minority partner in Washington Sports and Entertainment. With Lincoln Holdings' stake in the NBA's Wizards and the NHL's Capitals, Johnson became the first African-American woman to have ownership interest in three professional sports franchises.

The sports industry is full of astute business professionals, but what distinguishes Abe and Irene Pollin from their peers is their commitment to social responsibility. They share a passionate need to give back to the community and have made helping people a way of life. Their philanthropic and humanitarian endeavors know no bias or boundaries, which is evident by the numerous public service and community organizations to which they selflessly devote enormous time and energy.

Abe Pollin serves as the Chairman of the Advisory Council, is Honorable Chairman of the Salvation Army's Leadership Committee for Centers of Hope and Co-Chair of the Community Capital Campaign for N Street Village in the District. He is also the co-sponsor of the "I Have a Dream Foundation" and personally guaranteed a college education for 55 students.

"I grew up in a house where both my parents were very much involved in helping others," said Pollin. "My philosophy is that those of us who are on the giving end rather than the receiving end are very lucky."

Not surprisingly, recognition of the Pollins' record and accomplishments are just as impressive as the deeds they acknowledge. The last two years have been landmark ones for Pollin, as he has received numerous awards and accolades recognizing his accomplishments in professional sports and contributions to community service.

Additionally, Pollin was awarded the Duke Ziebert Capital Achievement Award for his efforts in revitalizing downtown Washington, D.C. He has also been the recipient of the Distinguished Civilian Service Award, presented by the US Army, the 1996 Robert F. Kennedy-Martin Luther King, Jr. Award, presented by Coalition to Stop Gun Violence, the 1996 United Cerebral Palsy Achievement Award and the 1997 Jewish Leadership Award.

As if the years of experience with the Bullets/Wizards, Capital Centre and MCI Center were not challenging enough, Irene Pollin is a noted health care professional with over 28 years of experience in the field. In 1976, she created the first Medical Crisis Counseling Center developed to treat patients and families coping with chronic illness. Since then she has developed Medical Crisis Counseling Centers at Washington Hospital Center as well as additional facilities in surrounding communities.

In addition, Irene Pollin has forged a dynamic reputation as a psychiatric social worker and lecturer in the department of psychiatry at Harvard University. As president and founder of the Linda and Kenneth Pollin Foundation, she serves on a number of national advisory boards and commissions in fields of both mental and women's health, and is the founder and chairperson of the Sister to Sister — Everyone Has a Heart Foundation, an organization whose aim is to increase women's awareness of heart disease and provide free cardiac screenings.

In addition to lecturing in the academic community, Mrs. Pollin has been a guest on national and local broadcast shows including The Today Show, Nightline with Ted Koppel, Good Day New York, National Public Radio and USA Today Sports Radio. She also has published numerous articles and is the author of two books, Medical Crisis Counseling — Short-Term Therapy for Long-Term Illness and Taking Charge — Overcoming the Challenges of Long-Term Illness.

She has served as a board member of numerous organizations such as the American Cancer Society, Smithsonian Institution, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, National Kidney Foundation, the Multiple Sclerosis Society, the Society for Women's Health Research, National Cancer Institute, National Rehabilitation Hospital, the National Institute of Mental Health, the U.S. Committee for the Washington, D.C. United Nations Fund for Women, the National Institutes for Health Foundation and the Office of Women's Health at NIH. Outside of the health field, Mrs. Pollin has served on the board for the National Symphony Orchestra and the Washington Opera. In addition, she has given back to her alma mater, serving on the Board of American University for 11 years, the American University Executive Committee and the Development Committee at AU and was the guiding force behind the development of the new AU Library.

Abe Pollin moved with his family to the Washington area from Philadelphia when he was eight. He graduated from The George Washington University in 1945 and went to work for his family's construction company for 12 years. Irene Pollin, a native of St. Louis, received a Bachelor's Degree from American University, and then earned a Master's Degree in Social Work from Catholic University. In 1957, the Pollins launched their own construction company and, as a local contractor, built several large apartment houses and office buildings, one of which featured the first-ever rooftop pool in Washington.

Most recently, Abe and Irene Pollin together established the Pollin Prize for Pediatric Research, administered annually by New York Presbyterian Hospital. The first Pollin Prize was awarded November 15, 2002 to four international scientists for their work in Oral Rehydration Therapy, hailed as the most important medical discovery of the 20th century.

The Pollins are avid travelers and they enjoy spending time with their children and grandchildren. Robert, the elder of the Pollins' two sons, lives in Amherst, MA with his wife Sigrid, where they are both professors at the University of Massachusetts. Robert, an economics professor, and Sigrid, an architect, have two daughters, Emma and Hannah. The Pollins' younger son, James, is the Executive Vice President of the Sister to Sister — Everyone Has a Heart Foundation. Abe and Irene Pollin reside in Bethesda, Maryland.

PRESIDENT

Susan O'Malley

If there is any way to personify success through perseverance then Susan O'Malley is a model example. Named President of Washington Sports and Entertainment on May 9, 1991, O'Malley became the first female president of an NBA franchise as well as president of a multi-faceted sports and entertainment company.

A respected leader and motivator, O'Malley has risen through the ranks to the top of Washington Sports and Entertainment. Once an intern with the Bullets and Capitals, O'Malley joined the organization full-time in 1986 as Director of Advertising. Since that time, her ground breaking business ideas and proactive approach to customer service has brought her, and Washington Sports and Entertainment, to the top of the sports business world.

After being named President, O'Malley took an organization ranked last to its counterparts in close to every category, and initiated policies and procedures that have formed positive relationships with ticket holders, corporate sponsors, and the media.

In her first season handling off-court activities, the team experienced the largest ticket revenue increase in the history of an NBA franchise to date. In addition, that year, the club achieved the highest renewal rate of season tickets ever by the franchise, including the year following the 1977-78 Championship season.

As President, O'Malley oversees all business operations for the Washington Wizards. In addition, she is responsible for overseeing operations in the Abe Pollin owned MCI Center, Entertainment and New Business Development, Finance, Human Resources/ Payroll Services, Marketing, Team Operations, and TicketMaster.

> "Susan O'Malley is a marketing dynamo."
> — Chris Wallace, *Fox News Sunday

"The city of Washington is extremely fortunate to have a man like Abe Pollin spend over $200 million of his own money to build a world-class sports and entertainment facility in the heart of the city at no expense to the taxpayers," said O'Malley. "It's my job to make sure that MCI Center continues to provide outstanding entertainment for this city as often as possible. Since we opened in 1997, we have been among the 'busiest' arenas in the country, and we will continue to be for years to come."

O'Malley's magic has helped attract over 18.7 million patrons through the turnstiles of the Washington, D.C.-based facility through September of 2005 to witness professional basketball at its finest, as well as spectacular events and concerts. In the eight year history of MCI Center, the arena has been host to more then 1,576 concerts and sporting events. The 2004-2005 Wizards season saw the playoff-bound franchise tally 12 sellouts, averaging over 17,000 fans per game.

From a young age, O'Malley always knew her path in life. As a grade school student, she wrote a paper declaring her goal was to run a sports franchise. Her teacher deemed the goal "unrealistic," but O'Malley was not swayed. After graduating in 1983 with a Bachelor of Science degree in business and finance from Mt. St. Mary's College, O'Malley worked for the Earle Palmer Brown Advertising firm for three years before joining the Bullets in 1986. She worked for two seasons in the advertising department before being promoted to Executive Vice President and took control of the business operations of the franchise.

A skilled motivator, O'Malley created a spirited, results-oriented work environment that has been emulated throughout professional sports. While she demands hard work and determination from her staff, she has been rewarded with loyalty — her core management team, assembled by O'Malley when she assumed control of Washington Sports, remains intact nearly 15-years later. Her motivational methods are much sought-after, as she has become an often-requested speaker for civic, academic, and corporate groups.

"I think motivation and drive always comes from within," said O'Malley. "There are people that I greatly admire and respect. [Former chairman of the Washington Post] Katherine Graham was one of my great heroes. People like that inspire me. It's easy to point to someone like Sandra Day O'Connor, who became the Supreme Court's first female member over twenty years ago. People who keep trying to move forward, that's important to me, that's what inspires me."

For two years, O'Malley taught a Sports Business Marketing class at the Georgetown University Business School. Sharing her invaluable experience with the senior students, O'Malley lectured on what she knows best: how to run a successful sports franchise. Along with guest celebrities and seasoned veteran sports marketers, Georgetown students were exposed to a first hand experience in sports business without ever leaving the classroom. In 2002, Georgetown awarded O'Malley with the Adjunct Professor of the Year Award. Currently, she is pursuing her law degree from Georgetown.

O'Malley is a strong advocate of community service, a quality that is emulated by Washington Sports and Entertainment. She works tirelessly in countless fundraising capacities for worthy causes. For her commitment to youth, O'Malley was the recipient of the Americanism Award from the Alexandria-Olympic Boys and Girls Club in 1997.

O'Malley resides in Alexandria, VA.

President of Basketball Operations

Ernie Grunfeld

Widely regarded as one of the top executives in the National Basketball Association, Ernie Grunfeld is in his third season as President of Basketball Operations of the Washington Wizards. Grunfeld joined the organization on June 30, 2003, and less than two years later, with a roster that was largely assembled under his guidance, the Wizards won a playoff series for the first time in over two decades and are now poised to become a perennial playoff contender.

Grunfeld triggered Washington's ascent to the upper echelon of the Eastern Conference with the acquisition of a pair of decorated performers, both of whom blossomed into first time All-Stars in Washington. Within the first 13 months of his tenure in DC, Grunfeld signed free agent guard Gilbert Arenas and acquired forward Antawn Jamison in a draft day trade, and later watched both players become the driving forces behind the Wizards' 2005 Playoff run.

After an appearance in the Eastern Conference Semifinals, Grunfeld bolstered the Wizards' foundation with the addition of Antonio Daniels, Caron Butler and Chucky Atkins, complimenting one of the youngest and most versatile nucleuses in the NBA.

Prior to his efforts in Washington to build a perennial playoff contender, Grunfeld's long list of accomplishments included two trips to the NBA Finals, four Eastern Conference Finals appearances and 12 playoff berths, including 11 straight from 1991-2001 with the New York Knicks and Milwaukee Bucks. With 28 years of NBA experience as a player, broadcaster, coach and executive, Grunfeld's vision and leadership have been paramount to the Wizards' success.

In the process of building a contender in the Eastern Conference, Grunfeld's attention to detail resulted in the renovating and upgrading of the team's facilities at MCI Center. The major overhaul included the interior and exterior of the team's locker room and the basketball operations office.

> "Ernie has been a major contributor to the National Basketball Association for nearly three decades. He has excelled in many facets of the game, and for that he is one of the most respected figures in basketball. Ernie is tireless worker, and on a personal note, I value him as a great friend."
> — Jerry West,
> Memphis Grizzlies, President of Basketball Operations

"Everything he has done has been with the focus of making us a playoff contender for years to come," said Wizards Chairman Abe Pollin. "Some moves have shown immediate returns and others are made with an eye towards the future. That's the mark of a good manager."

Prior to joining the Wizards, Grunfeld spent the previous four seasons as General Manager of the Milwaukee Bucks, where the team's 14 playoff wins during his tenure exceeded its cumulative total in the 12 seasons prior to his arrival. During his tenure, the Bucks posted a record of 177-151 (.540) and qualified for the playoffs three times. Included in the Bucks run of playoff success was a trip to the 2001 Eastern Conference Finals, where they pushed Philadelphia to a deciding Game 7.

Grunfeld solidified his reputation as a top talent evaluator with a series of second round picks that helped build the Bucks' roster. Grunfeld's penchant for finding talent in the second round began when he selected Michael Redd with the 43rd overall pick in 2000, and has since watched Redd blossom into an All-Star performer. Grunfeld also tabbed Jason Hart (2000), Dan Gadzuric (2002) and Ronald Murray (2002) in the second round of the NBA Draft and staked his claim as a premier draft day executive.

During Grunfeld's reign as the Knicks' top personnel executive, New York advanced to the Conference Semifinals of the NBA Playoffs for nine consecutive seasons (1991-99). His tenure included five 50-plus win seasons, three Atlantic Division Championships and two trips to the NBA Finals. In eight seasons of decision making for New York, Grunfeld's Knicks teams compiled a record of 397-227 (.636) in the regular season and a 61-44 mark in the playoffs.

Grunfeld was named General Manager of the New York Knicks on April 23, 1991 and was later promoted to President and General Manager on February 23, 1996. His tenure in New York was punctuated by Eastern Conference Championships in 1994 and '99, the latter of which marked the first time in NBA history that an eighth seed advanced to the Finals. Remarkably, after Patrick Ewing was felled by injury, the '99 Finals squad featured an entirely different starting five than the previous Eastern Conference Champion Knicks just five years earlier.

With Grunfeld's vision, the mid-'90's Knicks completely rebuilt and reloaded to an elite level without missing a beat. Highlighted by trades for Latrell Sprewell and Marcus Camby, as well as the signing of free agent Kurt Thomas, Grunfeld's moves helped catapult the Knicks to the Finals in '99. Three years earlier, Grunfeld acquired both Larry Johnson and Allan Houston on the same day in '96, solidifying his reputation as an astute decision maker. Under Grunfeld's guidance, the Knicks played in front of a sold-out Madison Square Garden from 1993-99.

All told, the 2005-06 Wizards' campaign represents Grunfeld's 16th season as a top personnel executive in the NBA. He has enjoyed 14 seasons of at least .500 basketball, while three different franchises have experienced the postseason on his watch. Grunfeld's teams have advanced to the Conference Semifinals of the NBA Playoffs in 10 of the past 14 seasons.

After two seasons in Milwaukee, he played for the Kansas City Kings from 1979-82 before signing with the Knicks as a free agent in 1982. Grunfeld retired following the 1985-86 season with a career average of 7.4 points per game in 693 career games played.

Following his playing career, Grunfeld served as the Knicks radio analyst for the MSG Network from 1986-89. Prior to the 1989-90 season, he served as an assistant coach for the Knicks under Stu Jackson before his promotion to the front office.

Born in Romania, Grunfeld came to New York City in 1964 with his father, Alex and mother, Livia. He enjoyed a stellar collegiate career at the University of Tennessee, where he left as the school's all-time leading scorer with 2,249 points. He teamed with Bernard King at Tennessee to form the "Ernie and Bernie Show" and later played with King in New York. Grunfeld was a member of the 1976 Olympic Team that won gold in Montreal.

Upon his arrival in Washington DC, Grunfeld was quick to establish himself as an active member of the community. COACHING STAFF

Eddie Jordan
Head Coach

The 2004-05 campaign marked Eddie Jordan's second season at the helm in Washington, and the Wizards' Head Coach did his part to make it a memorable season in his hometown. Born and raised in Washington, Jordan returned to DC prior to the 2003-04 season, and in just his second season with the Wizards, Jordan guided the team to its first Playoff appearance in eight years and its first postseason series win since 1982. Now in his third season in Washington, the longest tenured head coach in the Eastern Conference continues in his quest to make the Wizards a perennial contender and to bring an NBA Championship back to the nation's capital.

In an unforgettable season in 2004-05, Jordan led the Wizards to a 45-37 record and his influence on a young team was evident. Jordan saw Gilbert Arenas and Antawn Jamison selected to the All-Star team for the first time in their careers, and aided in the development of Larry Hughes into one of the league's top performers. With one of the league's youngest nucleuses, Jordan and the Wizards enjoyed the franchise's best season since 1978-79, and established a new record for wins in a season at MCI Center.

Jordan won his 100th career game as a head coach on April 11, 2005, and improved his career record to 103-158 after the 2004-05 regular season. After compiling a 25-57 record in his first season in Washington, Jordan guided the Wizards to a 20-game improvement in 2004-05. Despite using 16 different starting line-ups on account of a myriad of injuries (314 totals games), only the Phoenix Suns and Chicago Bulls saw a bigger improvement in the win column from the previous year. The 2004-05 season was highlighted by the Wizards' series win against the Chicago Bulls in the first round of the NBA playoffs; a series in which Jordan's Wizards rallied from a 0-2 deficit to take the series with four consecutive wins.

"One of the best things that Eddie Jordan has done is melding different personalities and different talents into one team," said Sam Smith of the Chicago Tribune. "He puts his players in a position to succeed. That's what makes him a coach that players want to play for. At the same time, he won't accept losing. He won't accept failure."

> "Eddie Jordan has done an unbelievable job with that team. They are young and they are athletic, they play together, they are well coached and they are for real. I think they have a tremendous future ahead of them."
> —Larry Brown,
> Head Coach, New York Knicks

Jordan was introduced as head coach of the Washington Wizards on June 19, 2003 after serving as the lead assistant of the New Jersey Nets for the previous four seasons. With Jordan's tutelage and offensive system, the Nets won consecutive Atlantic Division and Eastern Conference Championships in 2002 and 2003.

Jordan joined the Nets coaching staff on March 17, 1999. Prior to his arrival in New Jersey, Jordan spent the 1997-98 campaign and the final 15 games of the 1996-97 season as head coach of the Sacramento Kings, where he compiled a 33-64 record. He was an assistant coach with the Kings for five seasons before being named head coach on March 20, 1997.

After retiring from the NBA in 1984, Jordan was a volunteer assistant at Rutgers University under his former college head coach, and current Wizards' assistant, Tom Young. Jordan followed Young to Old Dominion as a part-time assistant before landing an assistant coaching position at Boston College under Jim O'Brien in 1986, and at his alma mater in 1988.

Originally selected by the Cleveland Cavaliers in the second round of the 1977 NBA Draft (33rd overall), Jordan was acquired by New Jersey midway through his rookie year. As a New Jersey Net, Jordan led the league in total steals in 1978-79 and was second in total steals in 1979-80.

Jordan joined the Los Angeles Lakers during the 1980-81 campaign, where he subsequently played four seasons, and was a member of the 1982 NBA World Championship squad. He also played briefly with the Portland Trail Blazers before concluding his professional career after the 1983-84 season. In his seven-year career, Jordan averaged 8.1 points, 3.8 assists and 1.82 steals per game.

As a collegian, Jordan led Rutgers to the 1976 NCAA Final Four in his Junior year, and was named East Regional MVP. In his senior season, he was named honorable mention All-America, while setting Rutgers all-time career records in assists (585) and steals (220). Jordan graduated from Rutgers in 1977 with a degree in health and physical education.

Jordan was born in Washington, D.C. and is a 1973 graduate of Archbishop Carroll High School where he enjoyed a standout basketball and football career. Jordan has recently created a program called Coach Jordan's Neighborhood "8", through which community groups in the District's Ward 8 can attend a Wizards' home game courtesy of Jordan.

Eddie and his wife, Charrisse, have two children, a son, Jackson (7), and daughter, Skylar (5). Eddie also has three sons, Justin, who attends New York School of the Arts; Eddie II, who followed in his father's footsteps at Rutgers University, where he played football; and Paul, who resides in D.C. Eddie II graduated from Rutgers in May, 2005 and is currently attending his alma mater for graduate school. Charrisse Jordan was recently appointed as President of "Behind the Bench", a non-profit organization developed by the National Basketball Wives Association, which raises funds and awareness for charities that benefit women and children.

Coaching Staff

Mike O'Koren
Assistant Coach

Mike O'Koren is in his third season as the lead assistant coach of the Washington Wizards, and the former North Carolina All-American continues to add to an impressive resume of success at the coaching ranks. O'Koren joined the Wizards staff after serving as an assistant coach with the New Jersey Nets from 1999-2003 where he helped guide the Nets to back-to-back Atlantic Division and Eastern Conference Championships in 2002 and 2003. But it was during the 2004-05 season with Washington when O'Koren's gift for coaching and ability to make quick adjustments truly shined.

O'Koren substituted for Eddie Jordan as Head Coach of the Wizards for a brief stint in late November, and guided the Wizards through a pair of overtime contests. The Wizards were 1-1 in the two games with O'Koren at the helm on November 26 and 28, and were also victorious with O'Koren coaching the second half of a game at MCI Center on March 30.

"He is a player's coach," said All-Star forward Antawn Jamison. "He knows how to get the best out of his players. He has confidence in himself, and we have confidence in him. He's a natural and all of the guys have respect for him."

O'Koren is an invaluable member of a coaching staff that saw Gilbert Arenas and Antawn Jamison become first-time All-Stars in 2005, and guided the continued development of a young Wizards' nucleus highlighted by Jarvis Hayes, Brendan Haywood, Jared Jeffries and Etan Thomas.

After a standout college career at North Carolina where he was a three-time All-American and a four-year starter, O'Koren was drafted by the Nets with the sixth overall selection in the 1980 NBA Draft. He averaged 8.5 points in his seven NBA seasons with the Nets and enjoyed his best season during the 1981-82 campaign when he averaged a career-high 11.4 points per game. O'Koren played briefly with the Washington Bullets during the 1986-87 season, and appeared in 15 games for the franchise that he now helps coach.

An avid participant in community activities, O'Koren is a fixture at Wizards' community relations endeavors. O'Koren and his wife, Angela, have a daughter, Chelsea.

Phil Hubbard
Assistant Coach

Phil Hubbard is in his third season as an assistant in Washington, and is a key member of a staff that ranks as the longest tenured unit in the Eastern Conference. With a pair of All-Star performers in 2005 and a young nucleus that blossomed under the guidance of the coaching staff, Hubbard helped the Wizards win a playoff series for the first time in nearly 25 years. Having previously worked as an assistant in Golden State and with the Atlanta Hawks, where he helped coach Lenny Wilkens become the winningest coach in NBA history, Hubbard's long career in the NBA has him amongst the most well-known assistants in league circles.

Hubbard played in the NBA for 10 seasons with the Detroit Pistons and Cleveland Cavaliers and averaged 10.9 points per game during his career. He averaged a career-high 15.8 points per game with Cleveland during the 1984-85 season.

A graduate of the University of Michigan with a degree in education, Hubbard enjoyed a standout collegiate career. He led the Wolverines' run to the 1976 NCAA Championship Game, and remains as only one of four Michigan players to have his number (35) retired. He was also a member of the United States 1976 Olympic Basketball team that won the gold medal in Montreal.

He and his wife, Jackie, have two children: Whitney and Maurice.

Coaching Staff

Tom Young
Assistant Coach

The 2005-06 season marks Tom Young's third campaign in the NBA after a distinguished collegiate coaching career. Young coached current Wizards floor boss Eddie Jordan at Rutgers in the mid-70's, and the two reunited in Washington 27 years after guiding Rutgers to the 1976 Final Four. Nearly three decades after their collegiate success, Young and Jordan guided the Wizards to the 2004-05 NBA playoffs and secured the franchise's first post-season series win since 1982.

Young was prepared for success in Washington by a coaching career that began here almost 50 years ago. Young was named the Head Coach at Catholic University in Washington, D.C. in 1958 and he spent nine seasons at Catholic before going to the University of Maryland for two seasons as an assistant coach. From there he went to American University where he coached the Eagles for four seasons.

Young coached at Rutgers for 12 seasons and reached the Final Four with Jordan in 1976. He also coached for six seasons at Old Dominion from 1985-1991.

Young is a 1958 graduate of the University of Maryland, where he co-captained the basketball team during his senior season.

Wes Unseld, Jr.
Advance Pro Scout/Assistant Coach

In his ninth year as a member of the Wizards organization, Wes Unseld Jr. returns as the Wizards advance pro scout and adds the Assistant Coach title to reflect a growing list of responsibilities.

Just four days after his graduation from The Johns Hopkins University in 1997, Unseld began his scouting career with both professional and collegiate responsibilities to the Wizards organization. Promoted to advance scout in his first season, the thirty-year-old Unseld is nearing almost a decade of service.

As the Wizards' advance pro scout, Unseld scouts between 20-25 games a month during the basketball season. The Wizards' primary source of scouting reports both on opposing teams and individuals, Unseld plays a key role in game planning and preparation.

In 2004-05, Unseld was an invaluable member of a staff that guided Washington to its first postseason series victory in over two decades, and his player development skills will again be utilized in 2005-06; his first season as an Assistant Coach.

Unseld also spent three seasons as an advance scout for the WNBA's Washington Mystics (1998-2000). In 1998, he spent part of the season serving as an assistant coach for the Mystics.

BROADCASTERS

Dave Johnson

Radio Play-By-Play Announcer

The 2005-06 season marks Dave Johnson's ninth consecutive campaign as the voice of the Wizards on the Wizards Radio Network. Also known to Wizards fans as the host of the popular weekly television show "Wizards Magazine", Johnson's ties to the Washington DC sports community are strengthened by his efforts as the sports director and award-winning morning sports anchor for WTOP radio (AM 1500), for whom he has logged a decade of service.

Johnson's ubiquitous presence in the sports community is also due in part to his role as the television play-by-play voice of Major League Soccer's DC United on Comcast SportsNet, and to an extensive history with televised soccer that includes appearances on ESPN and FOX, among others.

Among Johnson's other career highlights is an Emmy Award for his work as the host of the NHL's Washington Capitals "Face Off" television show, countless anchored telecasts both on Comcast and WTTG-TV 5, an extensive play-by-play resume of college football, college basketball and lacrosse, and the recent addition of NBA Playoff experience as the voice of the Wizards in 2005.

A graduate of Towson University, Dave and his wife, Diane, live in Annapolis, MD with their son, Pierce.

Steve Buckhantz

Television Play-By-Play Announcer

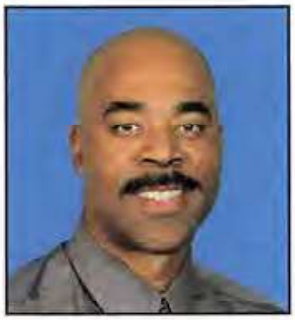
Popular Washington, DC sportscaster Steve Buckhantz begins his ninth season as television play-by-play voice of the Washington Wizards. In 2003 he was awarded an Emmy for his work with the Wizards and Comcast SportsNet.

A 31-year veteran of radio and TV, Buckhantz joined the Wizards broadcasts following nearly 14 years as Sports Director and lead sports anchor at Fox owned WTTG-TV in DC. He also anchored sports at TV stations in Atlanta, GA, Nashville, TN, Chattanooga, TN and Harrisonburg, VA. Buckhantz' work includes play-by-play for the "NFL ON FOX," and from 1991-97 was the radio play-by-play voice of the US Naval Academy Football team.

Born in Washington, DC, Buckhantz grew up in Arlington, VA and holds a Bachelor's of Science degree in Communication Arts from James Madison University. In 1995 he was honored with JMU's Distinguished Alumni Award. Buckhantz is involved with numerous charities, and for the past 10 years has been the spokesman for the annual Steve Buckhantz/St. Jude Celebrity golf tournament to benefit the Children's Hospital in Memphis, TN.

Phil Chenier

Television Analyst



The 2005-06 NBA campaign marks Phil Chenier's 21st consecutive season providing television color commentary for the Washington Wizards organization. Seated alongside play-by-play man Steve Buckhantz, Chenier has been further ingrained in the consciousness of Washington area sports fans after he starred for the Bullets for nine seasons during his playing days in the NBA.

An All-Star performer for the Bullets in 1974, 1975 and 1977, Chenier still holds the franchise record for most points in a non-overtime game (53), and he ranks among the all-time franchise leaders in field goals made (4th), points (6th), minutes played (6th) and games played (8th). He averaged at least 20 points per game for five consecutive seasons (1972-77) and was named to the All-NBA second team in 1974-75, when he finished eighth in MVP voting. After 10 professional seasons, Chenier retired in 1981 with 9,931 career points and a 17.2 ppg scoring average.

In the NBA off-season, Chenier shares his basketball expertise at his youth basketball camp, which is co-directed by David DuPree, a sports columnist for USA Today. Chenier lives in Columbia, MD, and has three children: April, Phillip and Adelle.

LINCOLN HOLDINGS

Ted Leonsis

Chairman and Majority Owner
Lincoln Holdings

In the spring of 1999 Lincoln Holdings LLC purchased 100% of the Washington Capitals (held in the name of Lincoln Hockey LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Lincoln Holdings) and, together with a subsequent purchase, approximately 44% of Washington Sports and Entertainment Limited Partnership (WSELP). In 2005 Lincoln Holdings purchased the WNBA's Washington Mystics from WSELP. Lincoln Holdings has a right of first refusal on the sale of any of the individual teams or other assets, as well as an option to purchase Abe Pollin's majority interest in WSELP.

Ted Leonsis is the Chairman and Majority Owner for Lincoln Holdings. In 2005, the group purchased the WNBA's Washington Mystics from WSELP. The interest in WSELP also gives Lincoln Holdings part ownership in several other D.C.-based sports and entertainment ventures, including the Washington Wizards (NBA) and MCI Center.

Leonsis, a pioneer of the new media industry, is currently Vice Chairman of America Online, Inc. and President of AOL's audience-based businesses. He is the longest tenured senior-level AOL executive and has served in multiple leadership capacities during his dozen years with the company.

WIZARDS IN THE COMMUNITY

EDUCATION: Read to Achieve

The NBA's year-round, league-wide initiative, Read to Achieve, promotes the values of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with children. The Wizards host various events and programs throughout the year in accordance with Read to Achieve, including a Back to School contest and event, Pick & Roll Reading Program, Reading Timeouts, Book and School Supplies Drives, and HOOPSMARK summer reading initiative. In the fall of 2004, the Wizards opened a reading corner at a local school — Bradbury Heights Elementary School.

Back to School Contest

The Wizards celebrate the start of each new school year with a Back to School contest and event. Area Middle School and Junior High School students are encouraged to participate in an essay contest on the importance of staying in school. Winners are selected on the basis of creativity, uniqueness, and the impact the essay would make on their fellow students. Two winners from each area (VA, D.C., and MD) win a limousine ride to school with a Wizards player and a backpack full of school supplies.

Education Is Priority: Pick & Roll

The Washington Wizards and Read to Achieve team up to encourage Washington, Maryland and Virginia area Elementary School students to PICK a book and ROLL with it. PICK & ROLL is a reading incentive program geared towards fourth, fifth and sixth grade students. The Wizards challenge 35,000 children in over 350 schools to read eight chapter books between November and January. Students who complete the requirements receive a Wizards prize. The school with the highest percentage of students completing the program receives a visit from a Wizards player.

Hoopsmark

The Wizards promote reading during the summer with HOOPSMARK, a summer reading incentive program geared toward 9 – 15 year old students. Children are encouraged to read 10 chapter books throughout their summer break in order to win a Wizards prize. The program runs from late June – August. Materials are available throughout DC, Fairfax County and Takoma Park libraries. During the summer of 2004, nearly 450 area students successfully completed the HOOPSMARK program.

Everybody Wins

Once a week, Wizards staff members meet with students at Walker-Jones Elementary School to share conversation and good books. Everybody Wins is a mentoring program devoted to promoting children's literacy and a love of learning through shared reading and experiences with adults. This program is conducted in over 30 public elementary schools and impacts more than 5000 children in at-risk communities in the Washington-Metropolitan area.

Reading Timeouts

Throughout the year, the Wizards host reading timeouts at local schools, libraries or at MCI Center to help promote the importance of literacy. Players take time-out to read to area youth to help engage their imagination and foster a life long love of reading and learning. Last fall, the Wizards hosted 300 elementary school students from Scott Montgomery Elementary School,

Garrison Elementary School and Langdon Elementary School at MCI Center to tip-off the season of Read to Achieve. The students were joined by Wizards players and were entertained by a special guest story teller.

National Poetry Month Contest

The Wizards and Etan Thomas encourage local students to explore their writing skills and contribute to National Poetry Month through a poetry contest. Last spring, 7th - 12th grade students were asked to write an original poem focused on the theme, "The World as I Know It". Three winners were selected from over 400 poems received. Along with attending a Wizards home game, the winners had the opportunity to read their poem aloud with Thomas at a post-game poetry reading.

The 2005 National Poetry Month Contest helped highlight the release of Etan Thomas' first poetry book, More Than An Athlete, from Moore Black Press. In an effort to encourage local youth to get involved in poetry and creative writing, the Wizards have made available a limited number of copies of Thomas' book to local community groups and schools at a special rate.

Black History Month Art Contest

In celebration of Black History Month, the Wizards, with Giant Foods and Kellogg's gave students the opportunity to help celebrate the history, accomplishments and impact of African-Americans through a Black History Month Art Contest. Ninth through twelfth grade students created an original piece of artwork that celebrates an African-American Hero. Students displayed their artistic talents by creating paintings, drawings, collages and photographs that highlighted the history of African-Americans. All student artwork was showcased on the concourse at MCI Center in February at a Wizards game.

SAFE NEIGHBORHOODS: Kids 'N Kops

The Wizards and the G.R.E.A.T. (Gangs Resistance Education and Training) program and MCI team up with D.C., Montgomery County, Fairfax County and Takoma Park Police to encourage positive relationships with youth and police officers and promote conflict resolution. Area police officers are provided with Wizards player cards containing an action shot and information about a Wizards player, along with a conflict resolution tip on the back of the card. Each time a child introduces himself or herself to an officer, the child will receive a player card. After collecting all five player cards and the mascot card, the child completes the back of the mascot card and returns that card to their local precinct. Each child who completes and turns in the final mascot card receives a Wizards prize!

Our House Our Rules

The Wizards promote non-violence to area youth! In October, area elementary, middle, junior high and high schools, as well as community organizations are asked to create a video PSA promoting the selected Wizards Our House, Our Rules theme. Winners are chosen based on creativity, originality and the impact of their message/PSA. Each winner receives a block of tickets to a weekend Wizards home game and their PSA is posted on the Wizards website and presented during the designated Wizards game.

Court Resurfacing

The Wizards have provided 16 newly refurbished basketball court sites in the Washington-Metropolitan area since 1992. This program provides area youth a clean and safe place to play. With the help of Coca-Cola/Sprite, the Wizards complete two sites a year, repaving and relining the courts and hosting a dedication ceremony and skills clinic at the site.

A Salute To Our Heroes

In partnership with Northrop Grumman the Washington Wizards worked with the USO of Metropolitan Washington and provided free tickets for every home game for soldiers recovering from injuries at the Walter Reed Medical Center and the Bethesda Naval Center. Each night soldiers were recognized during the game and were visited by former Wizards players and the Wizards Dance Team.

HOLIDAY ACTIVITIES: Wizards Turkey Giveaway

The Wizards team up with Calvary Food Bank to host an annual turkey basket giveaway each November. Four hundred baskets are filled with turkeys and items to compliment a Thanksgiving Day meal, such as, canned vegetables, bread, stuffing and desserts. Baskets are handed out to D.C. area families in need. Each season, two Wizards players volunteer to sponsor this event and help pass out each basket.

Abe's Table

The Wizards host an annual Abe's Table Holiday event each November. Wizards players, coaches and staff serve a hot Thanksgiving Day meal to over 100 senior citizens from the District.

Canned Food Drive

The Wizards host an annual canned food drive at a Wizards home game in November. Fans are encouraged to donate non-perishable food items in exchange for a ticket to a future Wizards game. All donations benefit the Bread for the City, a private, non-profit organization that provides vulnerable residents of Washington, DC with comprehensive services including food, clothing, medical care, legal and social services in an atmosphere of dignity, respect and peace.

Family to Family

A December ritual, Washington Sports and Entertainment Chairman Abe Pollin, Wizards players, coaches and front office staff board a charter bus filled with toys, bikes, clothes, games, gift certificates and a special gift from Sharp Electronics for each family and head to designated homes in the area who need help with the holidays. The Wizards work with various non-profit organizations throughout the Washington DC metropolitan area to coordinate ten families receiving donations.

Foster Care Holiday Party

The Wizards host an annual Holiday Party each December for Washington, D.C. children in foster care. Children from around the District are treated to a carnival-like atmosphere complete with food, games and fun, including Wizards players' autographs, interactive games, photo button booth and more.

Toys for Tots

In December, the Wizards team up with the U.S. Marine Corps to host a Toys for Tots drive at MCI Center. Fans who donate a new, unwrapped toy the night of the game receive a coupon to a future Wizards game. All toys are dispersed through the U.S. Marine Corp to underprivileged children in the Washington-Metropolitan area.

Warm Coat Drive

In January, the Wizards and Chevy Chase Bank host a warm coats drive at a Wizards home game at MCI Center. Fans are encouraged to donate new or gently used coats. Each fan who donates an item receives a coupon for a future Wizards game. Coats are given to Washington-Metropolitan area shelters and groups homes through the Salvation Army.

IN THE COMMUNITY, HONORING THE COMMUNITY: Pollin Award

The Wizards team up with D.C. Lottery to honor the D.C. area's top volunteers with the Pollin Award. Local schools, community organizations and companies have the opportunity to nominate their top volunteers who show exceptional dedication to their community. Winners are chosen based on their volunteer activities and how they impact their community. Winners receive two lower level tickets to a designated Wizards game and are presented the Pollin Award during halftime. To nominate a deserving community leader, Pollin Award applications are available on the Wizards web site at www.WashingtonWizards.com.

Community Tix Program

As part of Mr. Pollin's commitment to the fans, the Wizards provide complimentary game tickets to 501C-3 charitable organizations in the Washington-Metropolitan area each year. Interested groups are encouraged to send a letter of request on their company letterhead to the Wizards Community Relations Department. The Community Relations Department contacts groups directly when tickets become available.

Auction/Donation Program

Because of the overwhelming number of requests for donations received each season, Washington Sports and Entertainment created the Community Auction/Donation program. Organizations are asked to send a letter of request to the Wizards Community Relations Department on their organization letterhead. Organizations then receive a donation form for tickets to a specified Wizards game. These tickets can be used as raffle items, door prizes, or silent auction items. The Community Relations Department makes autographed Wizards balls available for a donation of $150. This fee is donated to Washington Sports and Entertainment charities.

Carefirst Community Three's

For each Wizards' three-pointer, CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield pledged $100 to the Unity Health Care, a network of medical sites serving the District's homeless and uninsured, as part of the insurer's "Community Three's" program. This past season the Wizards scored $50,000 for Carefirst Community Three's.

TEAM NOTES

A PLAYOFF TRADITION: The Wizards' Playoff berth in 2005 marked the franchise's 22nd all-time Playoff appearance, and it added another chapter to a Playoff tradition dates back to the 1964-65 season when Walt Bellamy and the Baltimore Bullets started it all. In their first playoff appearance since 1997-98, the Wizards trailed Chicago two games to none before they rallied for four consecutive wins to clinch the franchise's first playoff series win since 1982. The Wizards' feat marked just the ninth time since the seven-game format has been used in the NBA Playoffs, that a team that trailed 0-2 rallied to win the series. The 2005 Washington squad joined the company of Boston (1969), Los Angeles (1969), Baltimore (1971), Portland (1977), Chicago (1993), Houston (1994), Houston (1995) and Los Angeles (2004) as the only teams to have ever rallied from a 0-2 deficit to win a seven-game series. The Wizards' four-game winning streak also matched the franchise's longest ever postseason winning streak, equaling the mark set by the 1979 Bullets, who won the final three games of the Eastern Conference Finals and the first game of the NBA Finals that season.

ARENAS WAS ALL-NBA: As Gilbert Arenas piled up the accolades and endorsements from league personnel all season long, it came as a surprise to nobody, except Arenas himself, when the fourth-year guard was named to the 2004-05 All-NBA team at the conclusion of the season. Arenas, who was joined on the All-NBA Third Team by Phoenix Suns forward Shawn Marion, Houston Rockets forward Tracy McGrady, Detroit Pistons center Ben Wallace and Los Angeles Lakers guard Kobe Bryant, said "to be selected and mentioned in the same breath with these outstanding players is something that I couldn't have imagined in my wildest dreams." In his fourth professional season out of the University of Arizona, Arenas helped guide the Wizards to their best season in 26 years and their first Playoff appearance since the 1996-97 campaign. Arenas finished among the Top Ten in the NBA in points per game (25.5 – 7th), minutes per game (40.9 – 3rd), three-point field goals made (205 – 5th), total steals (139 – 5th) and free throws made (521 – 8th) during the 2004-05 season, and his 25 thirty-plus point games marked the fifth highest total in the NBA. Arenas scored a career-high 44 points versus Philadelphia on April 9, 2005, and only two players in the league scored at least 40 points more times this season than Arenas (6). Arenas' teammate, Antawn Jamison finished with five points in the voting while fellow Wizards guard Larry Hughes received one Third Team vote.

LARRY GOT DEFENSIVE: With Larry Hughes leading the way of a frenetic defensive front that helped the franchise reach its highest single season win total since the 1978-79 campaign, it was only fitting that Hughes was named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team in 2004-05 and became the first Washington player since the 78-79 team's Bobby Dandridge to be so honored. Hughes was the eighth player in franchise history named to an All-Defensive team, and the first since Manute Bol, a Second Team selection in 1985-86. In the Wizards' 45-win season, Hughes established himself as one of the premiere defensive players in the NBA as his 2.89 steals per game topped the league. Hughes' steals average was the highest since Scottie Pippen led the NBA with 2.94 steals per game in 1994-95, and was the first to top 2.85 since Gary Payton led the league in 1995-96. In his seventh NBA season, Hughes finished third on the Wizards in rebounding with 6.3 rebounds per game, and his 5.0 defensive rebounds per game were second among the Wizards to Antawn Jamison's 5.3 defensive rebounds per contest.

MCI CENTER, SWEET MCI CENTER: The Wizards' 29 regular season wins at home in 2004-05 marked a new MCI Center record for wins in a single season, and the most home wins for the franchise since the 1988-89 Washington Bullets won 30 games at the Capital Centre in Landover, MD. MCI Center played host to 12 regular season sold-out crowds this season, and saw an average of 17,197 fans pass through the turnstiles for Wizards games. During the team's playoff run, MCI Center hosted five additional games — all sell-outs — and saw the Wizards go 3-2 in the postseason on their homecourt. In the process of establishing MCI Center as one of the premier homecourt advantages in the NBA, the Wizards were victorious in what is believed to be the first ever NBA Playoff game held within Washington DC city limits — when the Wizards downed the Bulls, 117-99, at MCI Center on April 30, 2005.

THE EDDIE AND ERNIE SHOW: Washington's run to the 2005 postseason was enabled in large part by those at the top. Brought to Washington by Chairman Abe Pollin, Wizards President of Basketball Operations Ernie Grunfeld and Head Coach Eddie Jordan molded a team that gave Washington its first Playoff berth in eight years. Jordan coached the Wizards to a 20-game improvement from last season despite losing 314 player/games to injury/illness. Grunfeld's contributions included the acquisitions of Gilbert Arenas and Antawn Jamison, who blossomed into All-Stars in 2005.

GO-TO GUYS: Washington won seven times during the 2004-05 regular season when it took the lead on its final possession, and the maddening part for the opposition was that of those seven shots, five came via different players. In the end-of-the-game situation, the Wizards proved that guessing who will take the final shot is a fruitless task. Brendan Haywood became the Wizards' first 'go-to-guy' this season when the seven-footer converted a three-point play with seven seconds remaining to beat the Knicks 106-104 at MCI Center on December 10. Gilbert Arenas made his Golden State homecoming a memorable one with lay-up with less than a second remaining in a 103-101 win at the home of the Warriors on December 20. Larry Hughes converted a driving lay-up with .6 seconds on the clock for a 105-103 win in Milwaukee (1/14), and Antawn Jamison had the fourth fantastic finish with a running hook with .4 to play in the Wizards 95-93 victory in Indiana on January 22. Laron Profit tipped an errant Juan Dixon shot in with 3 seconds remaining to beat the Bobcats in Charlotte on March 5th, and Gilbert Arenas sank two free throws with 2.3 seconds remaining to down Utah 96-95 at MCI Center on March 19th. And in the Wizards' regular season home finale, it was Jamison again who did the deed, with a lay-up with less than two seconds remaining to give the Wizards a two-point win versus Charlotte. However, the Wizards saved their most fantastic finish for the Playoffs, when Gilbert Arenas drained an elbow jumper as time expired to give the Wizards a 112-110 victory in Chicago in Game Five of their first round playoff series against the Bulls.

TEAM NOTES

16 LINE-UPS IN ALL: In a season in which Washington lost 314 player/games due to injury and illness, the one constant for the Wizards was change. Eddie Jordan was forced to alter his rotation and starting unit almost weekly, and as a result the Wizards featured 16 different starting line-ups in 82 games this season. The starting unit that featured Gilbert Arenas, Larry Hughes, Jared Jeffries, Antawn Jamison and Brendan Haywood appeared in a high of 33 games, and enjoyed a 23-10 (.697) mark in those contests.

Washington Wizards	25	45	20
Miami Heat	42	59	17

MONTH BY MONTH: With a 7-5 record in the month of November and an 8-8 mark in December, Washington earned a record of .500 or better in both November and December for the first time since the 1984-85 season. And on the Wizards' Playoff march, the fun did not stop there. Washington enjoyed an 11-4 record in January, which included a 7-0 start, and kicked off the 2005 calendar year with the most wins in a single month for the franchise since the Wizards also went 11-4 in December, 2001. Among the Wizards' other monthly highlights was a 9-6 record in a brutal March schedule that featured 10-of-15 games on the road.

MAY LAST SEASON REST IN PEACE: It took the Wizards half of the season in 2004-05 to do what took them the entire season a year ago to accomplish. With the Wizards' 25th win of the season on January 24th in Cleveland, Washington equaled its 82-game win total from last season in the first 40 games of the current campaign. However, the Wizards' winning ways hardly ended at the midseason mark. The Wizards enjoyed continued success in the season's second half and finished with 45 wins — a 20 win improvement from last season. Washington's one-year jump marked the 3rd best improvement from 2003-04 to 2004-05 in the NBA.

HOW THE WEST WAS REALLY WON: With a victory in Portland on March 28th, in the fifth and final game of their last Western Conference road trip of the season, the Wizards completed their first winning trip against Western Conference opponents since March 2000, and in the bigger picture, finished with an impressive 17-13 record this season against the West. Washington had not finished with a winning mark versus the West since the 1997-98 season, which was also the last time that Washington finished with a winning record overall. Of the Wizards' 17 wins versus the West this season, 10 of those victories came via season-sweeps of five clubs. Washington was a perfect 2-0 this season against Memphis, Los Angeles Lakers, Utah, Seattle and Portland.

COACH JORDAN TURNED 50 AND 100: In a season full of special moments, Wizards Head Coach Eddie Jordan took his turn passing the milestone markers. Jordan notched his 50th win with the Wizards on January 24 in Cleveland, and notched his 100th career win on April 11 at MCI Center versus Milwaukee. The Washington D.C. native won 33 games as head coach of the Sacramento Kings in 1997 and 1998, and after a 25-win season last year in Washington, Jordan's Wizards won 45 games in 2004-05.

ANOTHER COMEBACK WIN: When the Wizards trailed the Charlotte Bobcats by 11 points in their home finale, nobody in the home white uniform seemed worried. Like they did twelve previous times this season, in true Wizards' fashion, Washington rallied for their 13th double-digit comeback win of the season. Of the Wizards' 45 wins in 2004-05, 13 came in games in which they once trailed by at least 10 points.

TURNOVER TURN-AROUND: Last season Washington committed a league-high 17.5 turnovers per game. In their second year in Eddie Jordan's offense, the Wizards turnovers were dramatically reduced. With a year to better understand the nuances of Jordan's offense, the Wizards became the league's sixth highest scoring team, while reducing their turnovers to just 14.3 miscues per contest. Washington committed 1.63 fewer turnovers per game than the opposition to rank as the league's third best team in turnover differential.

GRUNFELD'S ACES: If the Wizards were a poker hand, Ernie Grunfeld's first two cards would be aces. Of the 15 Wizards that ended the 2004-05 regular season with the team, eight began their Wizards tenure prior to Grunfeld's hire on June 30, 2003 and seven were brought to Washington by Grunfeld. The first two current Wizards to be brought to DC by Grunfeld were Gilbert Arenas and Antawn Jamison, both of whom were first time All-Stars in 2005. Arenas signed as a free agent on August 8, 2003 while Jamison was acquired via trade on June 24, 2004. Together, Arenas and Jamison accounted for 45.1 points per game for the Wizards in 2004-05. Peter John Ramos, Anthony Peeler, Michael Ruffin, Laron Profit and Damone Brown were also brought to DC on Grunfeld's watch, while Etan Thomas, a restricted free agent in the summer of 2004, was retained by Grunfeld's Wizards after he signed an offer sheet with the Milwaukee Bucks.

TEAM NOTES

THE BIG THREE: The Wizards' Gilbert Arenas, Larry Hughes and Antawn Jamison were reunited in DC last summer after the trio of scorers spent the 2001-02 season together in Golden State. Three years ago in California, Jamison (19.7 ppg in 01-02), Hughes (12.3) and Arenas (10.9) combined for 42.9 points per game. This season in Washington, the trio blossomed into the "Big Three" and became the league's most prolific trio of teammates. "Sometimes the grass is greener on the other side," said Arenas, and Hughes noted that "this is just an entirely different situation." As teammates with the Wizards, Arenas, Hughes and Jamison combined for 67.1 points per game, as the NBA's highest scoring teammate trio.

PLAYERS OF THE WEEK: After Boston Celtics' Head Coach Doc Rivers called Gilbert Arenas and Larry Hughes 'maybe the best backcourt in the NBA', it became clear that the league was taking notice of the Wizards dynamic guard duo. This was further evident when both Arenas and Hughes took home Player of the Week honors in the first three months of the season. Arenas earned POTW honors for the week of November 29 – December 5, 2004 and Hughes took top billing from January 10 – January 16, 2005. Arenas and Hughes finished as the league's highest scoring backcourt, outdistancing their nearest competition by a wide margin.

LAL	Kobe Bryant (27.6) and Chucky Atkins (13.6)	41.2

PHI	Allen Iverson (30.9) and Andre Iguodala (9.0)	39.9
NYK	Stephon Marbury (21.7) and Jamal Crawford (17.7)	39.4

30/30 BOYS: In 60 games played together this season, the backcourt tandem of Gilbert Arenas and Larry Hughes scored 30 or more points in the same game five times. No other duo in the NBA scored at least 30 points in the same game more than Arenas and Hughes. In fact, Arenas and Antawn Jamison scored 30-plus in the same game twice to tie Miami's Shaquille O'Neal and Dwyane Wade for the second place distinction. The Wizards enjoyed a 4-1 record when both of their starting guards topped the 30-point mark.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A YEAR MADE: In his second season with the Washington Wizards, point guard Gilbert Arenas, a former NBA Most Improved Player Award winner, took the concept of improving to a new level. Already regarded as one of the top guards in the league, Arenas cemented himself among All-NBA performers in a standout season in 2004-05. A first time All-Star in 2004-05, Arenas became the first and only member of his draft class to earn All-Star status and improved incrementally upon his already impressive statistics from a season ago.

	Arenas in 2004-05	2003-04

Assists Per Game	5.1	5.0
Turnovers Per Game	3.0	4.1
Field Goal %	.431	.392
Free Throw %	.814	.748

GILBERT'S GREATNESS: Gilbert Arenas' play this season landed him a spot on the Eastern Conference All-Star team, and the accolades do not figure to stop there for the league's 7th leading scorer. The fourth-year guard, and first and only member of the Draft Class of 2001 to make an All-Star appearance, Arenas finished in the Top Ten of the NBA in minutes per game (3rd), three-point field goals made (5th), steals per game (5th), points per game (7th), free throws made (8th) and field goals made (9th). In a season of standout performances, Arenas registered 25 games with 30 or more points, 6 games with 40 or more points and he finished 2nd in the NBA with 22 double-digit fourth quarter performances to his credit.

LARRY LIVED LARGE IN 2004-05: Washington's quiet star does not do a lot of talking, but his numbers in 2004-05 spoke volumes. In a season in which he led the NBA in steals per game, and enjoyed his first career triple-double among many other highlights, Hughes established new career-best marks in several statistical categories.

	Hughes in 2004-05	Previous Highs
Points Per Game	22.0	18.8 (2003-04)
Rebounds Per Game	6.3	5.5 (2000-01)
Assists Per Game	4.7	4.5 (2000-01)
Steals Per Game	2.89	1.9 (2000-01)

THEY MADE US PROUD: In truth, Gilbert Arenas and Antawn Jamison would have represented the Wizards well at the All-Star Game in Denver, CO regardless of their stat lines, but the All-Star duo did register a couple of marks in the box score just in case. Arenas finished with seven points and two assists in his All-Star debut, and proved to be anything but gun-shy. The Wizards leading scorer launched 11 shots in his 15 minutes of action.

TEAM NOTES

Jamison, who also made his first career All-Star appearance, connected on two of his five shots for five points. Arenas and Jamison each connected on a three-point try to account for two of the Eastern Conference's six three-point field goals made. Prior to Arenas' and Jamison's All-Star appearance, Washington had not seen teammates each named to the All-Star team in the same season since Jeff Malone and Moses Malone both represented the Bullets in 1987. Washington was one of seven teams with more than one All-Star, and one of 16 teams represented in the All-Star game.

386: Antawn Jamison's NBA-best streak of consecutive games played came to an end on March 8th in New York. Jamison missed the game with right knee tendinitis after playing in 386 consecutive games. Prior to his DNP, the last time that the NBA's iron man missed a game was April 19, 2000 in the Golden State Warriors' final game of the 1999-00 season. In Jamison's absence, the torch was passed to Toronto's Morris Peterson, who had appeared in 256 consecutive games when Jamison's streak was snapped.

CAN'T FORGET THE HULK: Keeping with the trend, Brendan Haywood was yet another Wizard that enjoyed a career-year in 2004-05. Haywood finished among the league leaders in blocks per game (16th – 1.68), and established new high marks in almost every major statistical category.

	Haywood in 2004-05	Previous Highs
Points Per Game	9.4	7.0 (2003-04)
Rebounds Per Game	6.8	5.2 (2001-02)

Minutes Per Game	27.4	23.8 (2002-03)
Field Goal Percentage	.560	.515 (2003-04)

AS JEFFRIES WENT, SO WENT THE WIZARDS: Jared Jeffries established himself as a starter in the Wizards' rotation in 2004-05 and became somewhat of a barometer of the Wizards' success. Jeffries scored in double-figures 19 times in the regular season, and the Wizards enjoyed a 12-7 record in those contests. Jeffries started 71 of the 77 games he appeared in, and like many of his teammates, established new career highs in numerous statistical categories.

	Jeffries in 2004-05	Previous Highs

Minutes Per game	26.1	23.3 (2003-04)
Assists Per Game	2.0	1.1 (2003-04)
Steals Per Game	.86	.59 (2003-04)

THESE WERE HAYES' DAYS: After leading the Wizards in scoring during the 2004 pre-season, Washington's second-year forward Jarvis Hayes showed no signs of slowing down when the season began. Hayes scored in double figures in the first five games of the season, and eight of the first nine overall. Hayes best game of the season came in a 27-point performance on January 17th in San Antonio which established a new career-high mark for the second-year swingman. Hayes' regular season came to an end on February 27th when a fractured patella forced him out for the remainder of the regular season. Hayes played in 54 games and started 22 contests in the process of scoring a career-high 10.2 points per game in his second season.

RUFF STUFF FOR WASHINGTON: After leading the team in rebounding in both summer league and preseason play (7.3 rpg), Michael Ruffin's play called for Eddie Jordan to pronounce Ruffin "the star of the summer". To nobody's surprise, Ruffin, when rewarded with the start on Opening Night, led the Wizards in rebounding with 11 boards; the first of eight times that he led the Wizards in rebounding this season. The Tulsa grad was one of just 14 players in the league that recorded more rebounds (minimum 300) than points during the 2004-05 campaign, and finished the regular season with the 5th highest offensive rebounds per 48 minutes average (6.0). Ruffin earned the admiration of his teammates with his unparalleled work ethic and on the day that Gilbert Arenas was awarded the Eastern Conference's Player of the Week Award, Arenas remarked that if they gave the award based on hustle plays, Michael Ruffin would have received the honor.

A LONG HARD ROAD: On November 3, 2004, a long wait came to an end for Laron Profit. Three seasons removed from the NBA, Profit's return to the league came in grand style, as the 27 year-old guard played and started his first NBA game in over three years on Opening Night in Memphis. After appearing in 68 games for the Wizards during the 99-00 and 00-01 seasons, the Maryland product scored 11 points in his first game back in Wizards uniform. Profit matched his season-high of 11 points in a 114-106 victory in Portland, and was responsible for one of the more memorable moments of the season when he tipped in an errant Juan Dixon jumper with just three seconds remaining in the fourth quarter to give the Wizards the decisive bucket in a 86-84 win in Charlotte on March 5. Profit went on to appear in 42 games for the Wizards during the 2004-05 season, and averaged 3.2 points in 10.2 minutes per game.

WIZARDS A WINNER IN RAMOS' DEBUT: Peter John Ramos made his NBA debut on November 3rd at Memphis, and logged three minutes of action in his first professional game. The 32nd overall pick of the 2004 NBA Draft, Ramos played for Spain in the Olympic Games in 2004 before joining the Wizards as a 19 year-old rookie. On the season, Ramos appeared in six games for Washington and averaged 1.8 points per game. His season-high tally came at Miami on November 9th when Ramos notched six points.

HIGHER THAN THEIR HIGHS: Last season, Gilbert Arenas, Brendan Haywood, Larry Hughes, and Jared Jeffries all established career-high scoring averages, while Jarvis Hayes checked in with 9.6 points per game in his rookie campaign. And after setting career-best marks a season ago, the same cast of characters were up to their old tricks in 2004-05. Arenas, Hayes, Haywood, Hughes and Jeffries scored at career-best rates this season, helping the Wizards to a 6th-place league rank in points per game.

WIZARDS RETIRED NUMBERS

41 WES UNSELD

As a player, Wes Unseld seemed to have been chiseled from a block of granite, with a stoic demeanor and an iron resolve to win. A 6-7 bull of a center, he forged his reputation on relentless rebounding, bone-jarring picks, and laser-beam outlet passes. He did all the unspectacular things that led to glamorous victories. He was the league's MVP and Rookie of the Year in 1968-69 and a five-time NBA All-Star who captained the Baltimore and Washington Bullets to four NBA Finals appearances in the 1970s and to a championship in 1977-78. Unseld was intelligent on and off the court, and over the course of his career he came to personify the virtues of hard work, dedication, and courage. After retiring in 1980 he moved into a front office position with the Bullets, then coached the team for seven seasons in the late 1980s and early 1990s before becoming the team's General Manager before taking a leave of absence in May 2003. During his 13-year NBA career, all with the Bullets, Unseld piled up many accomplishments. He ranked seventh on the league's all-time rebounding list and was one of a handful of players to have tallied at least 10,000 points and 10,000 rebounds for a career. He played 984 games for the Bullets, the most of any player in franchise history. His total of 13,769 boards (14.0 rpg) currently tops the franchise career list, and his 3,822 assists also is a Bullets record. After a standout career at Louisville, Unseld was the second overall selection in the 1968 NBA Draft by the Bullets following the selection of future teammate Elvin Hayes by the Rockets. The Bullets had never had a winning season up to that point of Unseld's arrival. With Unseld the team ran off 10 winning campaigns and made 12 consecutive playoff appearances. Unseld played each of his 13 seasons with the Bullets and was elected to the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1988. In 1996, he was named to the NBA 50th Anniversary All-Time Team.

11 ELVIN HAYES

One of the most talented power forwards ever to play the game, Elvin Hayes used his trademark turnaround jumper and aggressive defense to win a secure place in the NBA record books. Fifth on the all-time list in games (1,303) and third in minutes played (50,000), he missed only nine contests in his 16 years in the league, a tribute to his durability and conditioning. An All-Star for each of his first 12 seasons, he scored more points (27,313) than any other player in NBA history except for Kareem Abdul Jabbar, Karl Malone, Michael Jordan, Wilt Chamberlain and Moses Malone. He also ranks fourth on the league's all-time rebounding list with 16,279 boards. Hayes is the franchise leader in points scored with 15,551 and averaged 21.3 points and 12.7 rebounds in his nine seasons with the Bullets that included a world championship in 1978. Hayes attended the University of Houston where he had a standout career highlighted by outscoring Lew Alcindor 39-15 in leading Houston to snap UCLA's 47-game winning streak. Hayes was the first overall pick by the San Diego Rockets in the 1968 NBA Draft. Following four seasons with the Rockets, Hayes was acquired by the Baltimore Bullets in exchange for Jack Marin and future considerations on April 12, 1972. With the Bullets, Hayes moved to the power forward position and teamed with Wes Unseld to form one of the most formidable frontcourts in NBA history. Hayes led Washington to a franchise record 60 wins during the 1974-75 season while being named First Team All-NBA. During Washington's championship run in 1978, Hayes averaged a team-high 21.2 points per game. After a standout career in Washington, Hayes finished his 16-year career with the Houston Rockets. Hayes was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1990 and his #11 jersey is one of only three numbers retired by the Washington Wizards.

25 GUS JOHNSON

Gus Johnson, one of only three players in franchise history to have his jersey retired, was one of 21 finalists named by the North American Screening Committee for election into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame's Class of 2003. Johnson, a native of Akron, Ohio was a devastating force at the power forward position. Johnson's ability to score, pass, and rebound made the Baltimore Bullets a perennial title contender from the mid 1960s to the early 1970's. Johnson, who entered the league following one year at the University of Idaho in 1963, spent nine of his 11 pro seasons with the Bullets. Nicknamed "Honeycomb" for his sweet play, Johnson was a four-time All-NBA Second Team selection (1965, '66, '70, '71), a two-time All-Defensive First Team selection (1970, '71), and was a member of the 1964 NBA All-Rookie team. With Johnson on the roster, the Bullets reached the playoffs six times and advanced to the NBA finals in 1970-71 (4-0 loss to Milwaukee). Statistically, Johnson averaged a double-double (17.1 ppg and 12.7 rpg) in 581 career NBA games. The Washington Bullets retired his jersey number 25 in 1986. On April 29, 1987, Johnson passed away after being diagnosed with an inoperable brain tumor.

1977-78 CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON

Led by Wes Unseld and Elvin Hayes, the Washington Bullets captured the franchise's only world championship during the 1977-78 season under new head coach Dick Motta. The Bullets had established themselves as one of the most formidable teams in the 1970's and made two NBA Finals appearances only to lose to Milwaukee in 1971 and to Golden State in 1975, after a season in which the team posted a franchise record 60 victories. Washington finished the 1977-78 season with a 44-38 record and defeated Atlanta and San Antonio in the Eastern Conference Playoffs before upsetting Philadelphia 4-2 for a spot in the NBA Finals versus the Seattle SuperSonics. Seattle erased a 19-point lead at home in Game 1 and took a 1-0 series lead with a 106-102 victory. The series then shifted to the Capital Centre for Game 2 where Bobby Dandridge scored 34 points and Hayes added 25 points as Washington even the series with a 106-98 win. Seattle held off a late Washington rally for a 93-92 win at the Capital Centre in Game 3 as the series shifted to the Kingdome for Game 4. In need of a win, Washington trailed by 15 points late in third quarter but rallied behind Dandridge and Unseld to force overtime where Charles Johnson nailed three field goals as Washington evened the series with a 120-116 overtime win. The series then shifted to the Seattle Coliseum for Game 5, and in their home arena, the Sonics posted a 98-94 win to take a 3-2 series lead. Facing elimination, Washington exploded for 70 points in the second half of Game 6 and increased a 12-point first half lead into a 117-82 victory. The series then returned to Seattle for the seventh and deciding game where Washington played strong defense in forcing the Sonics backcourt of Gus Williams and Dennis Johnson into 4-26 shooting in building an 11-point fourth quarter lead. Seattle fought back in the closing minutes and cut the lead to four with a minute and a half to play. Mitch Kupchak then converted a big three point play but Seattle rallied to cut the lead to 101-99 on a Paul Silas tip-in. Seattle then fouled Unseld, who hit both of his free throws as Washington held on for a 105-99 victory and the franchise's first world championship. The title was the first for the City of Washington, D.C. since the Redskins won the NFL title in 1942. During the playoff run and finals, Motta reminded the media and fans that each series wasn't over until "the fat lady sings," a phrase that is widely associated with 1978 NBA Champion Washington Bullets.
